ENCOURAGING WORDS

The everyday Encounters of Jesus

As we talked about last week, Jesus' encounter with everyday people brings spiritual meaning to our everyday encounters. Such is the case with the healing of the "sick woman" found in Luke 8.

As Jesus was walking to the house of Jairus, whose twelve-year-old daughter was dying, the Bible described those who were around Him. Peter told Jesus, "Master the people are crowding and pressing against You." (Luke 8:45). In that crowd was one special woman whose faith that Jesus was truly Emmanuel surpassed the faith of almost all of those there. She was a woman in a society where women were often viewed as property and were treated with contempt. It is so remarkable how often Jesus in His work interacted with women. His regard for all of them stands in marked contrast to the culture in which He lived.

She was a poor woman. She was sick and had spent all her money trying to find a cure for illness. That society had little respect for the poor.

She was an unclean woman. The law of Moses paid special attention to the ceremonial uncleanness brought about by the flow of blood this woman had had for twelve years.

She was a humble woman. She pressed through that mob around Him and approached Him from the rear, hoping to touch the hem of His garment to find healing without being noticed. Her faith was realized and immediately she was cured. There were many garments worn in that crowd, but there was something different about His garment!

She was a woman who told others about what Jesus had done for her. After Jesus had asked, "Who touched Me," she came forward and "...declared to Him in the presence of all the people the reason she had touched Him and how she was healed immediately" (Luke 8:47).

She was a woman of great faith. Jesus said, "Your faith has made you well, go in peace" (Luke 8:48). There is a place in His kingdom for the sick, the poor and those treated with disdain by others. There is room in His kingdom for each of us.
